Out of the Orange and Blue

Student Life

This year's theme is "Out of the Orange and Blue." Why "Out of the Orange and Blue" you ask? It is because Maury High School is out of the ordinary. Orange and blue represents the school spirit that Maury 1 and Maury 2 both share.

Student life is a big part of Maury. School always seems to be incorporated in what students do because there is something about a Maury student that stands out above the rest.

Students at Maury 2 do not seem to lack spirit just because they are at a different location and separated from the rest of the student body. As a matter of fact, they possess more school spirit because they are eager to join the students at Maury 1 in their final and challenging years of high school.

As you turn through the Student Life section, a part of you, a Maury student, should be present whether it be Out of Friendship or Hanging Out. As always, Maury students come from "out of the orange and blue" to make our high school one with a proud past and a bright future.

During first lunch Gabrielle Vaillancourt, Lacy Jennings and Debbie Sigler,like the majority of students, enjoy eating outside and buying their lunch from the trucks.

Hanging Out

With the construction going on this year, Maury students were faced with a dilemma of where they could lounge and relax at school. However, the resourcefulness of the student body shone through regardless of the limited space. Lunch was a definite problem. Following in the old tradition of eating outside, the students migrated out in search of the ever present trucks. Yet, when the throngs turned around to find a seat, they discovered a ground covered with cement, rocks, and dust. But never fear, the Maury students cleared the rubble and made themselves at home. Another problem arose when the kids discovered that the library was cut in half. No longer were there the back rooms where students could sit and escape the wrath of our friendly librarians, during study halls. Finally, the old Math Resource Center(MRC) has been isolated from the student body. Consequently, many people were left out in the cold when they needed a place to sit during study halls or lunch. However, despite the setbacks and road blocks arising from the construction, Maury students managed to maintain their cool and kept on hangin' out.

Layton White, Chris Tymoff, Justin Senechal and Harrison White stand at the fence discussing the latest events during first lunch.

Hanging out by the wall, a Maury student relaxes as she enjoys the great taste of Coke.

Louis Barkin listens intently to the conversation while he also tries to finish his homework at the ODU library.

Far Out

Maury 2, the school where Freshmen are now housed because of the renovation at Maury, is located on Hampton Boulevard.

This is the first time in a long time that Freshmen have been separated from the rest of the student body. The last time freshmen were separated was when ninth graders were placed at Blair Middle School.

Student life at Maury 2 includes participation in the same clubs, sports and classes that Maury 1 students enjoy.

Students could be seen chatting with friends, taking a test, or staying after school with a teacher to receive extra help.

Overall, student life at Maury 2 is far out.

P.E. is always far out at Maury 2.

Out of Friendship

Most of the time people have to do certain things they do not want to do. However, at Maury High School it is different.

Students are always doing something for other students, even if they do not want to. They do it out of friendship.

Friendship entails such things as standing in a long line for lunch and buying lunch for a friend while the friend walks around to catch up on the latest gossip.Many times this is done while carrying a friend's books as well as your own.

Being understanding and caring is another part of friendship. Students at Maury are well-known for being understanding and protective of their friends when it comes to other people.

Even if a person does not know you very well and if you are down in the dumps, there is always a smile to help cheer you up. All in all, friendship is what Maury student life is all about.

Friendship plays an important part in Scott and Asher's high school romance.

Out of the ordinary

In the '70s, Maury's reputation as one of the best learning institutions declined considerably. The drop-out rate was up and there were alarmingly high reports of violence in the school. However, by the end of the decade, Maury had begun a steady climb up towards the present extraordinary standing it enjoys today.

Academically, Maury competes with top schools throughout the country. Maury now has a strong showing in the History Day Competitions as well as a top ranked Tidewater Challenge team.

Along with the impressive display of academic strength, Maury has pursued honors in athletics as well. Maury's boys' and girls' soccer, tennis, and swimming teams have dominated the district along with the field hockey team.

With the increasing academic and athletic honors won by Maury, it is obvious that this old school is out of the ordinary.

Out and Running

On Saturday, November 8 two "hot" things happened. First, the temperature rose to an unusually 75 degree November afternoon. But more importantly, the Commodores beat the Granby Comets 17-9 to win their 1986 Homecoming game.

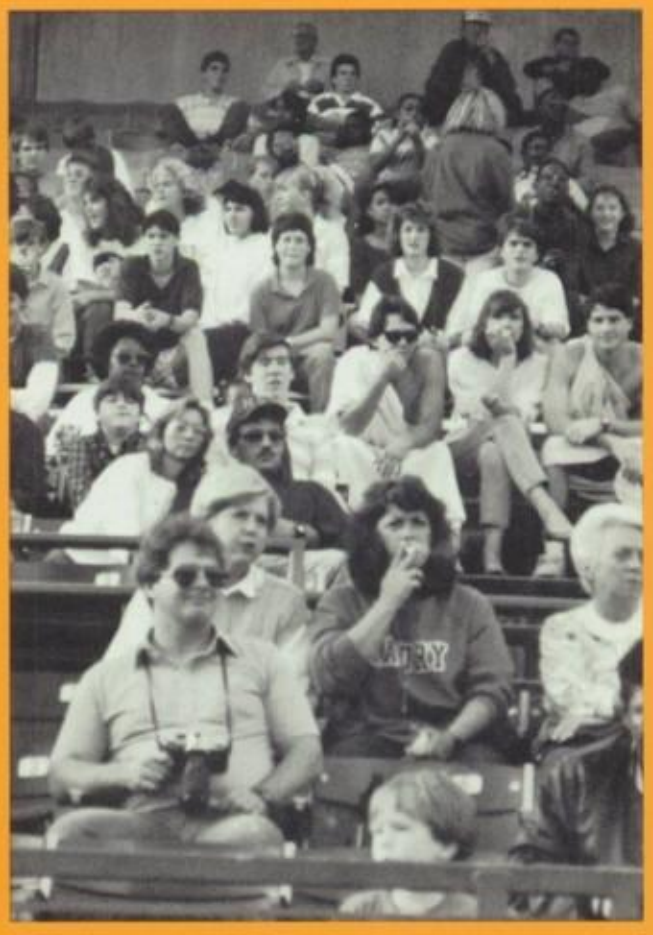
Met Park played host to all of the action and activities.

If there was one thing that was more beautiful than the victory over the Comets it would have to the splendor and beauty of the Homecoming Court.

This year's court included very attractive and talented attendants. The winner, Dione Boecker, was elated when named Homecoming Queen.

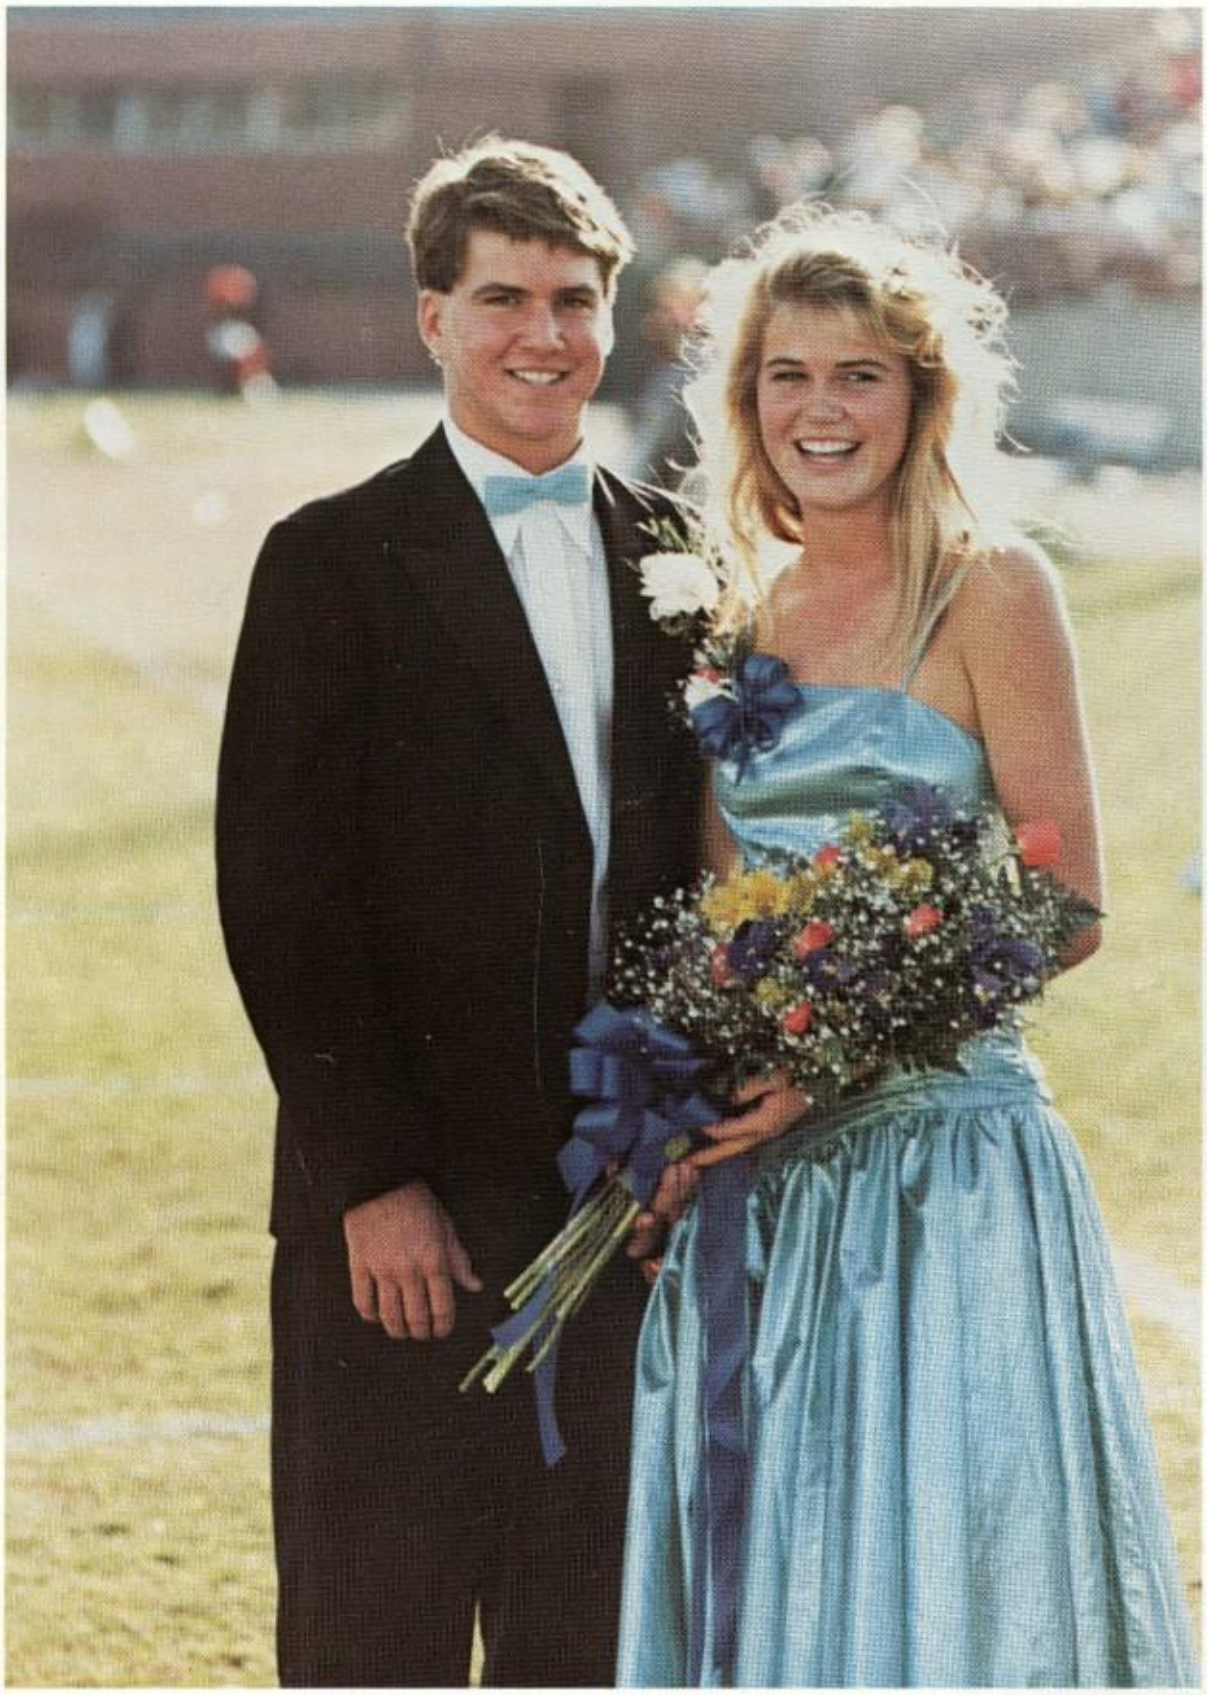
Dione, however, had some stiff competition in Senior Attendants Patrice Williams and Sonya Freeman

The Junior Attendants were Angie Serrano and Heather Dorsey. The Sophomores were represented by Amy Caddle and Elizabeth Johnson. The Freshmen sent Suzanne Caddle and Ann Matthews to the homecoming.



Coach Red Stickney and John McGlone watch attentively to the Homecoming game.

Faculty, parents, alumni and students look as the Commodores win the 1986 Homecoming Game.



Dione Wins

On November 8th, nine nervous girls and their escorts arrived at Met Park for the 1986 Homecoming.

Even more jittery than the rest of the girls were the three senior attendants who were unaware of who would be crowned as the Homecoming Queen.

Finally, during halftime, the girls' curiosity subsided when Dione Boecker was announced as the winner.

Checking Out

Seniors

Checking out is exactly what the 1987 Senior Class of Maury High School is doing. Maury's seniors are leaving high school and moving on to more independence and responsibility.

Seniors who are attending college next year said that they want to move away from home and live on their own. Those who will not attend college will work and become a part of the business community.

Although they are going to miss Maury, seniors will have good memories to take along with them wherever they may go. It is a general consensus that the seniors will miss their friends along with all the parties thrown by Maury students.

Even though it will be hard to say goodbye, the one thing seniors will be glad to be rid of is the excessive homework assignments.

Just as a book is checked out of a library and usually returned, the Senior Class is checking out of Maury but will most likely return for a visit.

'87 Seniors are ready to check out!!

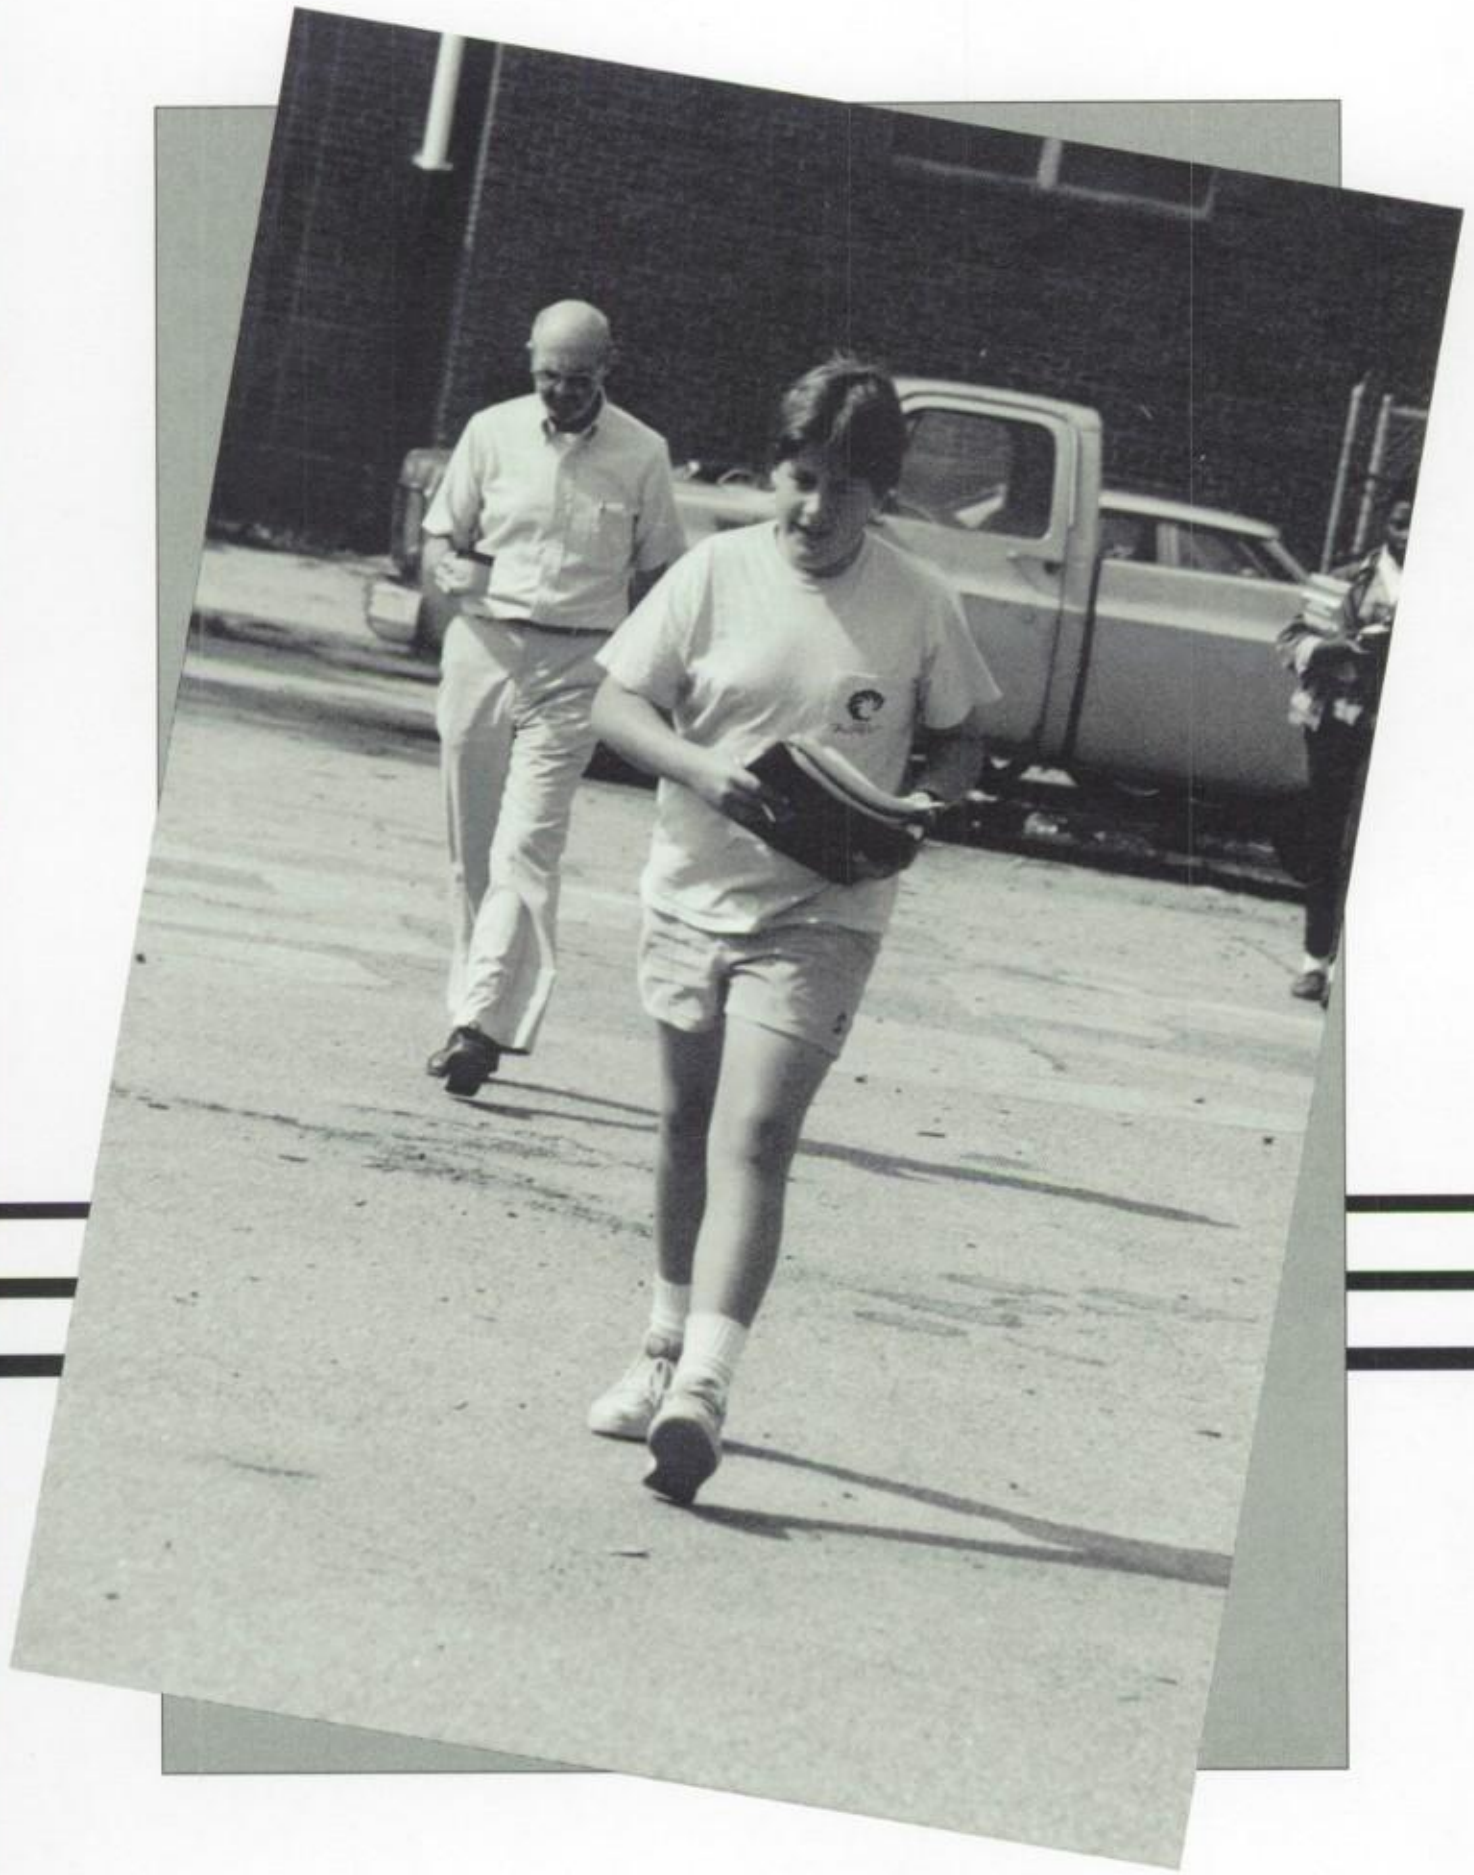
Breaking Out



Classes

The Juniors, Sophomores, and Freshmen of Maury have finally broken out this year. These students have come out of their shells and have become more outgoing.

By the end of the year, the Freshmen will break out of their location at Maury 2 and will move on and up to Maury 1. While the Freshmen were relocating, the Sophomores were freed of the category "underclassmen" and have become a part of the upper-class. Futhermore, while the Freshmen and Sophomores were breaking out, the Juniors were moving up and will move out within the next year.

Juniors now have responsibilities the Seniors had this year such as choosing colleges to attend and choosing post-graduate occupations. Just as the Seniors had to this year, the Juniors will have to say "good-bye" to their friends and classmates.

The Juniors, Sophomores and Freshmen most definitely have a lot to look forward to as they "break" into the upper-class.

Bobby Kuehl, a freshman at Maury 2, is breaking out for Maury 1.

Junior Class Rings

One of the most important things Juniors acquire is their class rings. When asked why rings are so important to Juniors, they have several responses. For instance, many students say buying a class ring is a tradition. Others say it is of sentimental value to them. However, the majority of the Juniors all said that rings symbolize that their graduation date is near.

Though rings are important to Juniors, they can not wish them to suddenly appear on their fingers. For example, class rings are costly. They range from between one-hundred to three-hundred dollars. As a result, effective budgeting is necessary.

Juniors also need to think about what engravings they want on their rings. Students could have their sports, clubs, names, or even special messages engraved on the rings.

There are a variety of class rings to choose from. Juniors might want small delicate rings, or large bold rings.

Preparing to be a Senior

What is meant by preparing to be a senior? Juniors, of course, are anxious to be seniors, but becoming a senior entails a lot of hard work!

First of all, Juniors should begin by taking the SAT. Juniors may need to take the SAT more than one time as only practicing will ensure success. It is important that Juniors score as high as possible by the time they graduate.

Also, Juniors will need to maintain a good grade point average so that in their senior year they will have a high class rank.

These tasks mean a lot, but obtaining a class ring is also special because it symbolizes that graduation is near.

Preparing to be a senior is hard work, but to Juniors, it is worth the hardship.

Juniors Rate Music's Best

This year a majority of the Junior Class agreed that R.E.M. and Run D.M.C. were the best selling albums of the year. However, some Juniors disagreed with R.E.M. and Run D.M.C. as being the best in music. For example, Junior Tammy Jarvela contended that U2 was the best in popular music today.

On the other hand, Junior Maggie Hart thinks that Billy Ocean and Kool and the Gang are the best in the business.

Yet another Junior, Becky Zelasko likes the Police and the band the Outfield was favored by Julie Martin.

Overall, the Junior class did have different taste in music, even though R.E.M. and Run D.M.C. have the most listeners.

This year brought another wave of exchange students from our neighboring countries. Among them came Belinda Ehbauer, a German exchange student who jumped right into life here at Maury. Belinda, having a sister who previously attended Maury in the '85-'86 school year, slipped into the social and school scene without any problems. Belinda, who prefers the knickname Lindy, joined the Keyettes and has volunteered her time and effort into community works with the club. Lindy then tried out, and made the Field Hockey team, and in the last game of the season managed to finish her season with a goal. Lindy has made friends quickly, and has picked up on Maury's own version of the English language in no time flat. If you run into her in the halls, don't be surprised if, in response to your greeting, she smiles and says "What's up, homeboy?" We hope Belinda has enjoyed her stay in America and that she comes to visit us again.

Maury's Pep Club

Even though the Pep Club got off to a slow start this year, they were still Maury's most ardent fans.

Many students may have thought that the Pep Club was non-existent this year because throughout most of the football season the Pep Club lack uniforms. However, the uniforms did arrive in time for the seventh game of the season. But even without uniforms, the Pep Club had been at the games supporting the Commodores all along. Even if the football game was played away, the dedicated girls on the Pep Club somehow managed to get transportation to the game in order to root on our players.

Even if the Pep Club is not very noticeable, have no doubt, because the Pep Club will always be the "die hard" fans that will never lose faith in Maury.

Junior Class Officers

This year the Junior Class officers were: Mary Beth Stewart-President; Lisa Conklin-Vice President; Eileen Askew-Secretary; Kedron Parker-Treasurer; and Erin Kenny-Inter Club Council Representative.

When Mary Beth took office as president, she accepted the responsibilities of calling meetings and finding ideas for fund raising projects.

As Vice-President, Lisa was responsible for taking over when the President could not make it to meetings.

Secretary Eileen Askew took the minutes and submitted notes for the Maury Log and Commodore.

The duties of the treasurer, Kedron Parker, were to check with their sponsor, Mrs. Comer, concerning the amount of money in the Junior Class bank account.

Finally, Inter Club Council Representative Erin Kenny brought back information about fund raising projects.

Juniors Agree on Mondays

Mondays-stereotyped as the worst day of the week-are nothing but cold, gray and rainy. The Juniors of Maury hold true to this long standing idea.

The consensus among our Junior class is that Mondays, especially Monday mornings, are the part of the week that is dreaded the most. Even songs have been written about the trails and tribulations of Monday.

Such songs as "Monday, Monday" and "Manic Monday" capture the true blue nature of Mondays.

Junior Maggie Hart epitomized the general consensus about Mondays when she said: "they(Mondays) stink.!!" This statement just about sums up the feelings of Juniors and the rest of the world concerning Mondays.

Maury's Lunch Hour

Eating lunch at Maury is a time for socializing. The Commodores either overcrowd the cafeteria or go outside for lunch.

Inevitably, students end up running into their "good ol'" buddies. Consequently, lunch time is a time when everybody catches up on the newest gossip.

Lunch is also a time when people who date at Maury get together to share their lunch and the time together.

In addition, lunch time serves as the perfect vehicle for getting dates and meeting new friends. The close friendly atmosphere of either the cafeteria or the sidewalks by the food trucks lend themselves to friendly smiles.

Even if it does seem like a social hour, most of the Commodores do manage to eat sometime during the lunch period.

New Experiences

Entering a high school can be a terrifying experience. Because Maury's Freshmen were not used to the large number of students in the school, they had a hard time finding their classes and getting to them on time.

Also, many of the Freshmen were shocked about the increasing amount of homework they received.

The renovation of Maury has caused a separation of the Freshman class from the other classes. Therefore, unlike the older students of Maury, the Freshmen this year have missed the common experience of being the youngest in school.

On the other hand, this separation may cause the Freshmen to have a more unified class.

Free Time, Fun Time

All Maury students seek entertainment. Some may go out out on the town at one time or the other during the course of the year. Going out on the town may mean just to go to a shopping mall like Military Circle to walk around and see a movie or just driving around to see "what's up!"

Maury students also like to go to Virginia Beach either alone to watch the waves or with friends to have a great day of sunning and swimming.

Even still, some of the teenagers here at Maury enjoy school sports and activities. Others enjoy watching Maury's athletes in action on their free time.

Maury students also like the entertainment that other students provide at lunch time as well as having fun with their friends.

Maury's J.V. Sports

When a student is promoted from middle school to high school, he or she has great expectations. Some students would like to become popular. Others would like to make great academic achievements and some students look forward to playing varsity sports.

But what these freshmen do not realize is that most five foot, four inch, one-hundred pound fourteen year olds are not ready for the animals on the varsity football team.

Because of this unfortunate situation, the junior varsity sport's program was created. This program enables underclassmen to participate in school sports. J.V. sports were basically designed to train ninth and tenth graders for all varsity sports.

All in all, J.V. sports is a good way to introduce students to high school athletics.

Two New Clubs

This year Maury added two new clubs. One of these new clubs is the Happy Club. The Happy Club was established to raise money to help the less fortunate Filipino families. Even though the Happy Club is one of the newest clubs at Maury, it has become the largest one.

Another new club founded this year is F.A.D.D which stands for Friends Against Drinking and Driving and Drugs. This club is trying to prevent friends from drinking and taking drugs.

Mr. Jack Baker and Mrs. Debbie Ansell sponsor the Happy Club while Mrs. Ann Laughner is in charge of F.A.D.D.

Maury welcomes these two new clubs and hope they had a successful year.

Freshmen Living

Being a freshman at Maury means a lot to the first year students. First of all, knowing that there is four more years of school may seem an insurmountable obstacle to some freshmen. Also, Freshmen begin thinking about career decisions.

Being a Freshman is also a time when confusion starts to set in and the battle between childish ways and the struggle to become an adult begins.

This school year the Freshmen were housed in a separate buliding because of the renovation of Maury. This created problems and successes. For example, some freshmen may have felt left out because they were attending Maury 2, yet the separation created a close knit freshmen class because they spent so much time together.

In general, Freshmen living this year meant working hard to achieve special goals.

The Love of Skating

Skateboarding, which has been mistaken as a mere child's past time, is actually a lifestyle for an increasing amount of youths today.

A growing group of Maury students have taken on this activity. While there are many facets of skating, such as vertical riding and freestyle, street style seems to prevail among a majority of Maury students.

"Street Style" consists of skating on curbs, loading docks, jump ramps and even skating up ninety degree walls. Skaters such as the White Brothers, Harrison and Layton, Bryan Zentz, Sonny Back and many others make skateboarding what it is today at Maury High School.

Maury's Weekends

The favorite part of everyone's week is the weekend. When asking Underclassmen at Maury what their favorite weekend activity was, the most overwhelming answer was "partying."

Friday and Saturday nights are a time for friends, food and great fun. Partying does not mean drugs and alcohol at Maury. "I party because I like to have fun," commented Underclassmen Valentino Abraham.

Weekends are not a time to party for all underclassmen. For some, weekends are a time for fellowship with friends and family.

No matter what activity is done, weekends are a time for underclassmen to do whatever they like.

Learning to Drive

This year the Sophomores have undertaken one of the biggest steps toward adulthood by learning how to drive.

Many of the underclassmen this year have received their training to get their driver's license through the Driver's Education Program at Maury.

Some of the students who have taken Driver's Education in the past are now training the upcoming drivers despite the fact that some of the trainers' driving records can be disputed.

For the Sophomores who have taken this big step toward adulthood, everyone at Maury hopes the Sophomores do as well on the road as they did on the driving range.

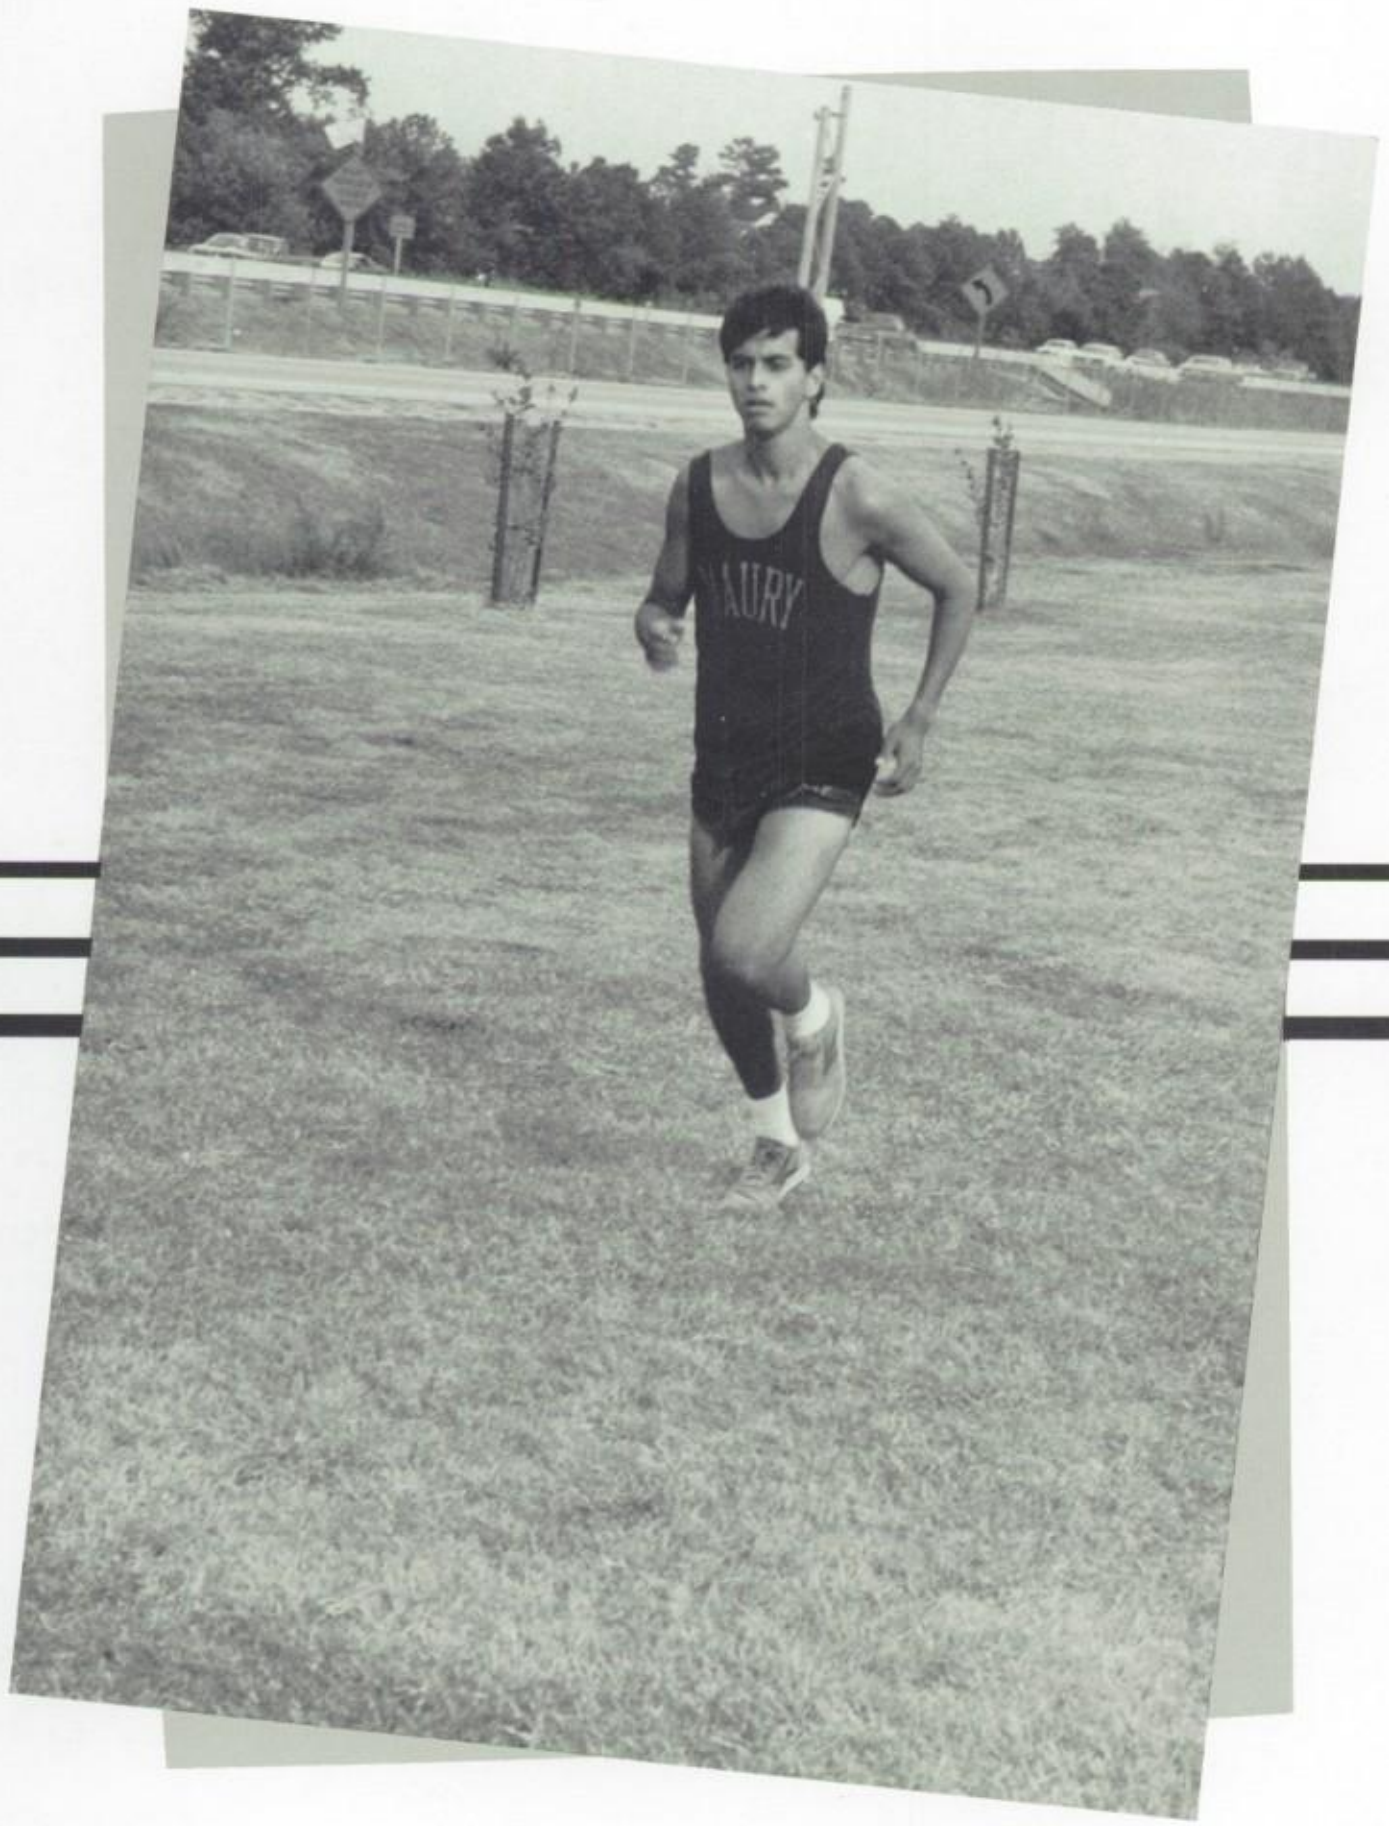
Working Out



Sports

A tough workout is exactly what Maury athletes receive when they participate in sports. Maury athletes are noted for their outstanding performance in giving their all. Furthermore, the coaches are the edge needed to bring out the best in our athletes.

As a matter of fact, Maury has now won the Superintendent's Cup for four consecutive years. The Superintendent's Cup is awarded to a Norfolk Public High School for its athletic and academic performance along with its sportsmanship.

Throughout the history of Maury, there has always been at least one outstanding athlete or coach that has gained recognition. This year we have Teddy Evans, Freya Mendelsohn and Coach Baker. However with the recognition comes a lot of hard work and pain. The cliche' "no pain, no gain" is quite true when it comes to our Commodores.

Boys' Tennis

Dominates Eastern District

The boys' tennis team has won thirteen consecutive Eastern District championships. The 1985 team, led by first year coach Red Stickney, won the title with a 12-0 record. In these victories, the Commodores held five teams scoreless and defeated the rest with three to five point margins.

Key players, such as Hunter Tyree, Pat Rollins, and Chris Darnell, made up what Stickney says might have been the strongest boy's tennis team Maury has produced in ten years.

Thanks to this great group of young men, Maury has another trophy in the case and another year of victories under its belt.

Both softball coach Pat Panzikand baseball coaches Jack Bakerand Marty Bechtol commented that the season was enjoyable and that the teams were easy to coach.

The players shared many a laugh along with the hard work and pain that seems to be required when playing a sport.

Star players of the softball team were Kathy Higgins and Lady Commodore, Michelle Bauserman. On the baseball team, the star players were Teddy Evansand Carl Ferrara. Both of these young men made the All Eastern District Team for their outstanding performances in the sport.

Just as Coach Panzik wishes the softball team a more successful 1987 season, Coach Baker wishes the 1987 Commodore baseball team the best of luck because beginning in '87 Coach Bechtol will assume the head coaching duties.

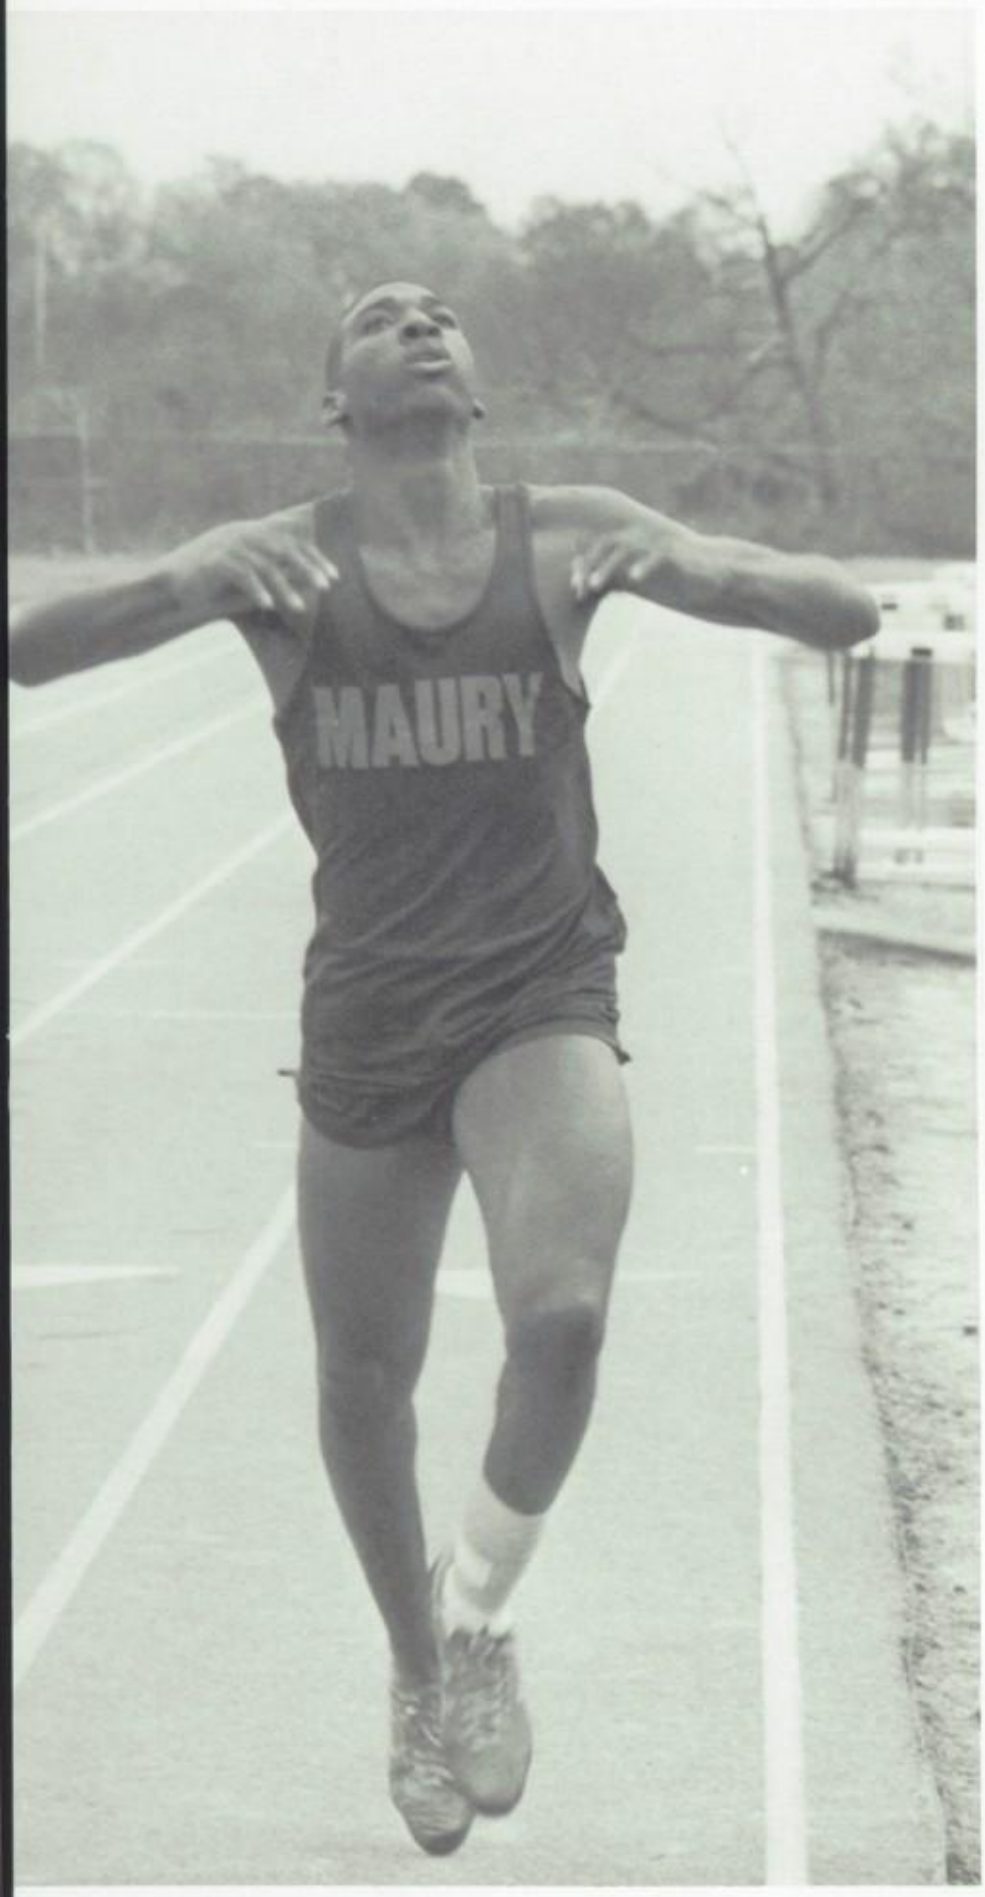
Track



Girls'

There are many words to describe the 1986 Lady Commodores' track team. Head Coach Cynthia Watson and Assistant Coach Wilbur Shearin called the past season a building block for one of the greatest girls' track programs Maury has ever had.

"We had a young and inexperienced squad. The girls worked hard and managed to win a few meets during the season," commented Watson.

Teleria James and Karen Corcoran were two of the key runners who led the girls to these victories.

Boys'

The Commodore Boys' Track Team, led by Coach Thornton, had yet another successful season. "I was pretty much pleased with the overall performance of the guys," commented Coach Thornton. "Missing people at events really hurt us, especially in district competition."

Key members such as Robert Ferebee and Rolfini Whidbee kept the team at a steady pace throughout the course of the season.

In District competition, Maury came in second place, only five points behind Washington High School.

According to Coach Thornton, the '86 season was just the beginning of a outstanding boys' track program at Maury.

Rolfini Whidbee puts forward all his effort into a last step towards victory.

Soccer is Tops

The Boys' Soccer Team, led by Coach Sean Fahey, finished the Spring of '86 with spectacular championship style winning. An outstanding team performance by the Commodores, led the soccer team to another Eastern District Title. The boys finished with an overall record of 8-4 and a district record of 8-0. The team clinched their district record with star players Todd Church and Pat Yanez.

The '86 Lady Commodore soccer team, led by Coach Harold Sigler and Assistant Coach Linda Wood, earned their district title too. The girls succeeded with a regular season record of 11-1. The '86 team also sent seven of its members to the All Eastern District Team.

Maury's Golf Team

The Maury Golf team, led by Coach Jerry Sazio, had yet another successful season.

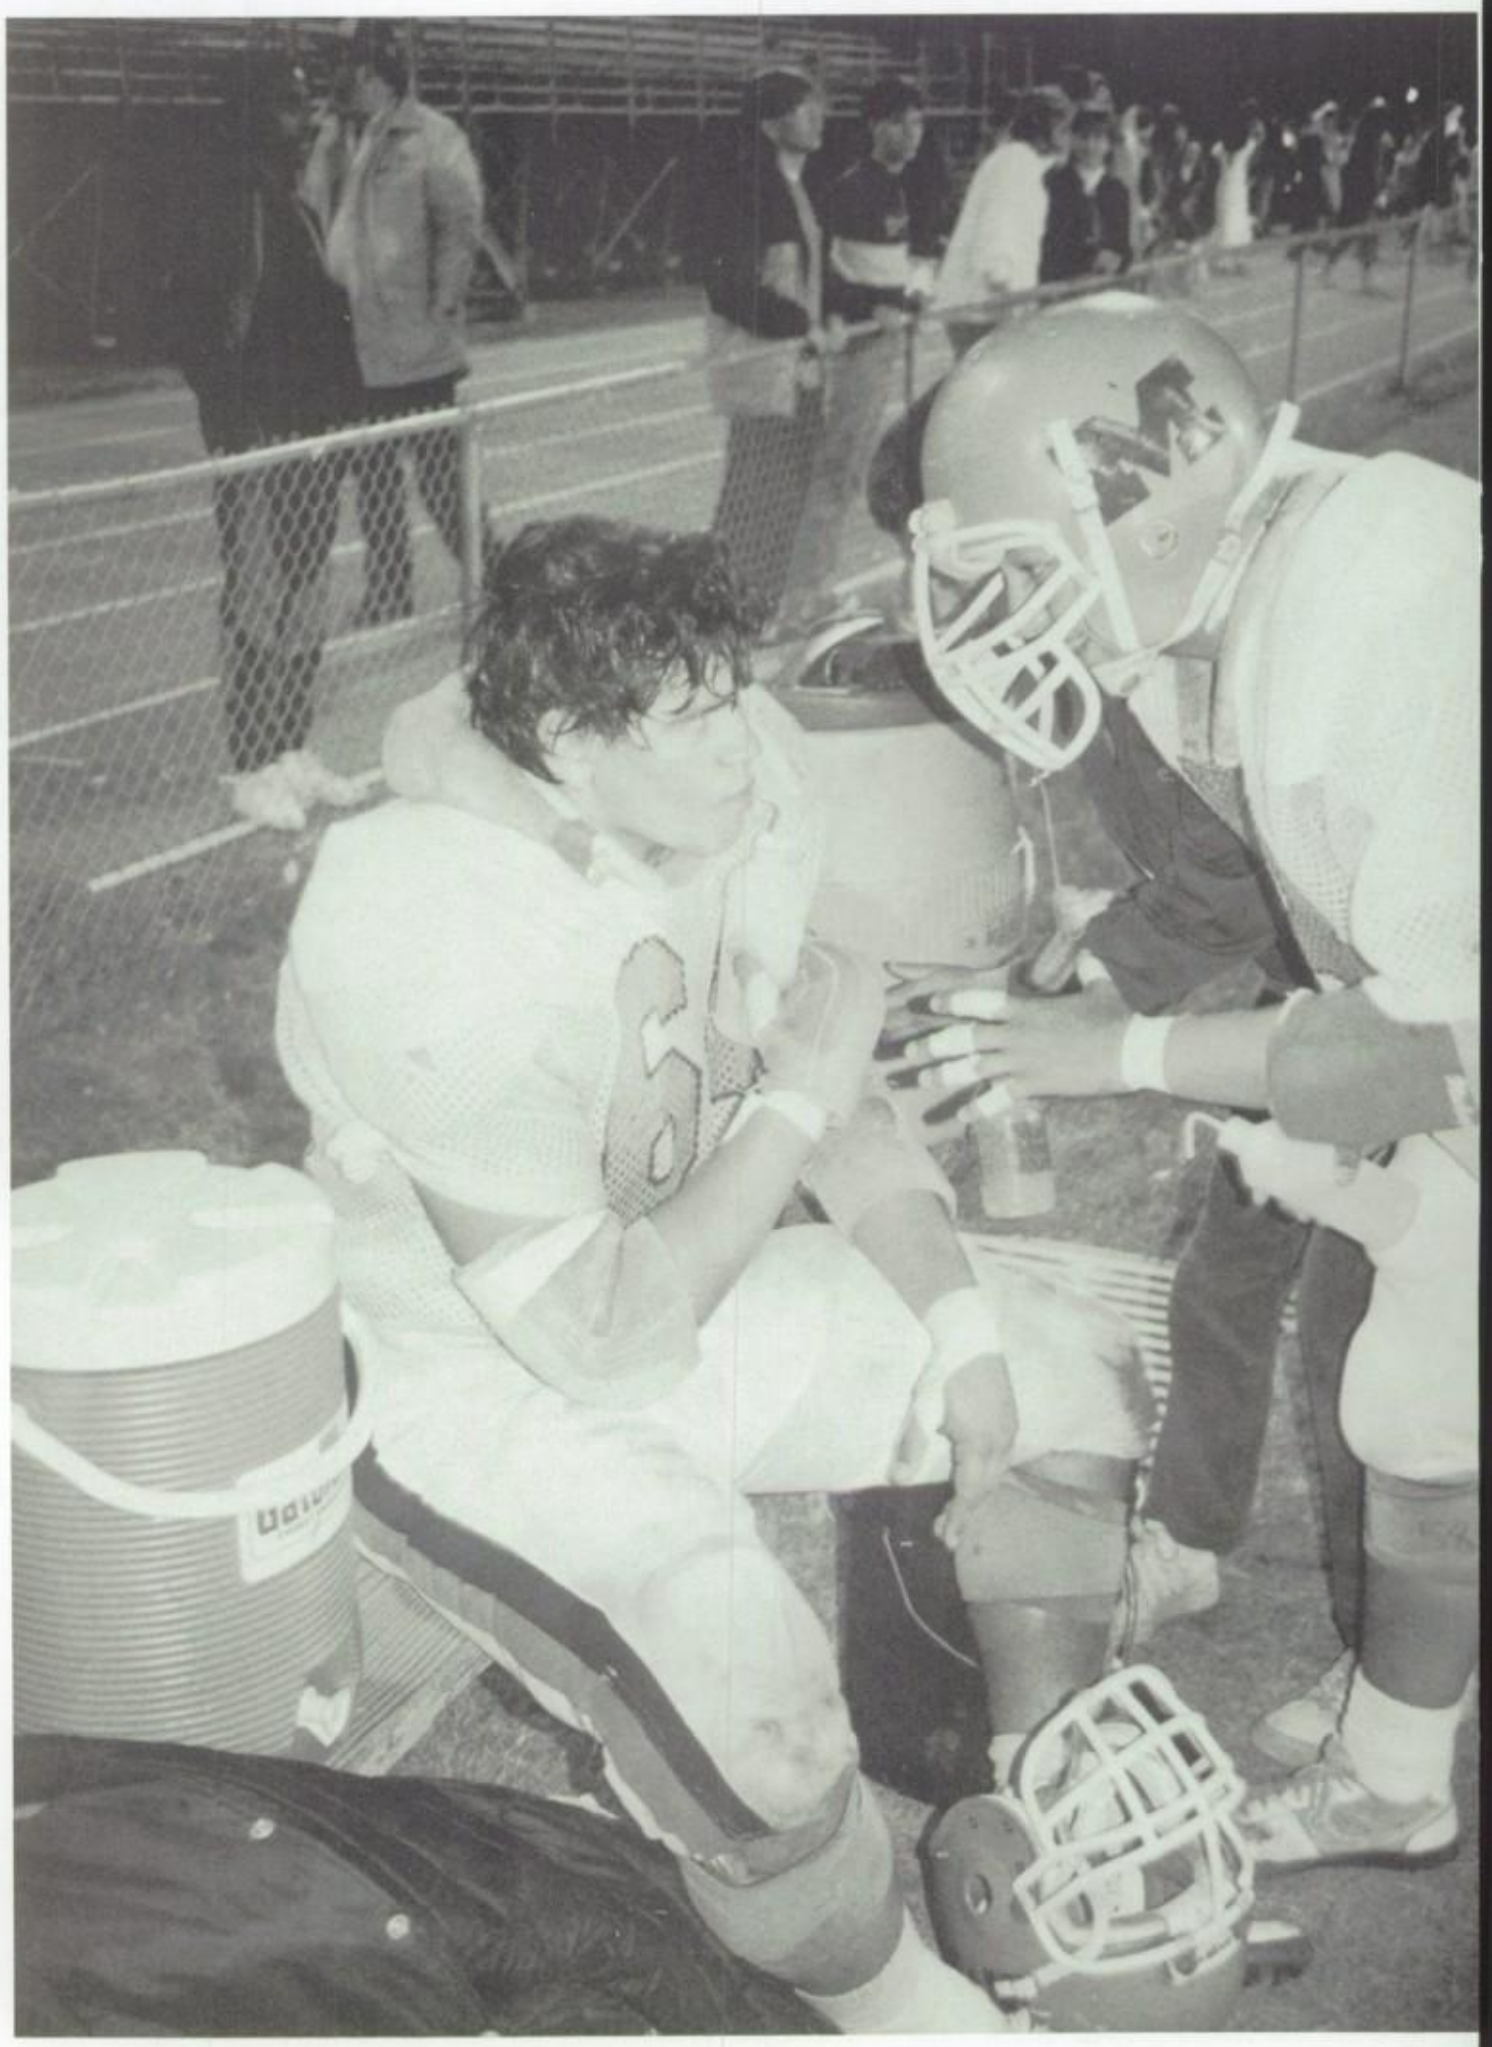
Team members such as Mike Shumate and Neil Smith were big reasons as to why the Commodore golf team finished the regular season with a winning record of 5-2. The golf team also landed a second place spot in the Eastern District.

"We lost a lot of great golfers last year," said Coach Sazio, "but this year's team showed a lot of maturity which was ultimately the reason for the team's success."

The 1986 Commodore Golf Team was definitely one of the sports that kept Maury's athletes on top of the pile in the Eastern District.

Commodore Football

Alex Serrano always works hard to keep the Maury spirit alive.

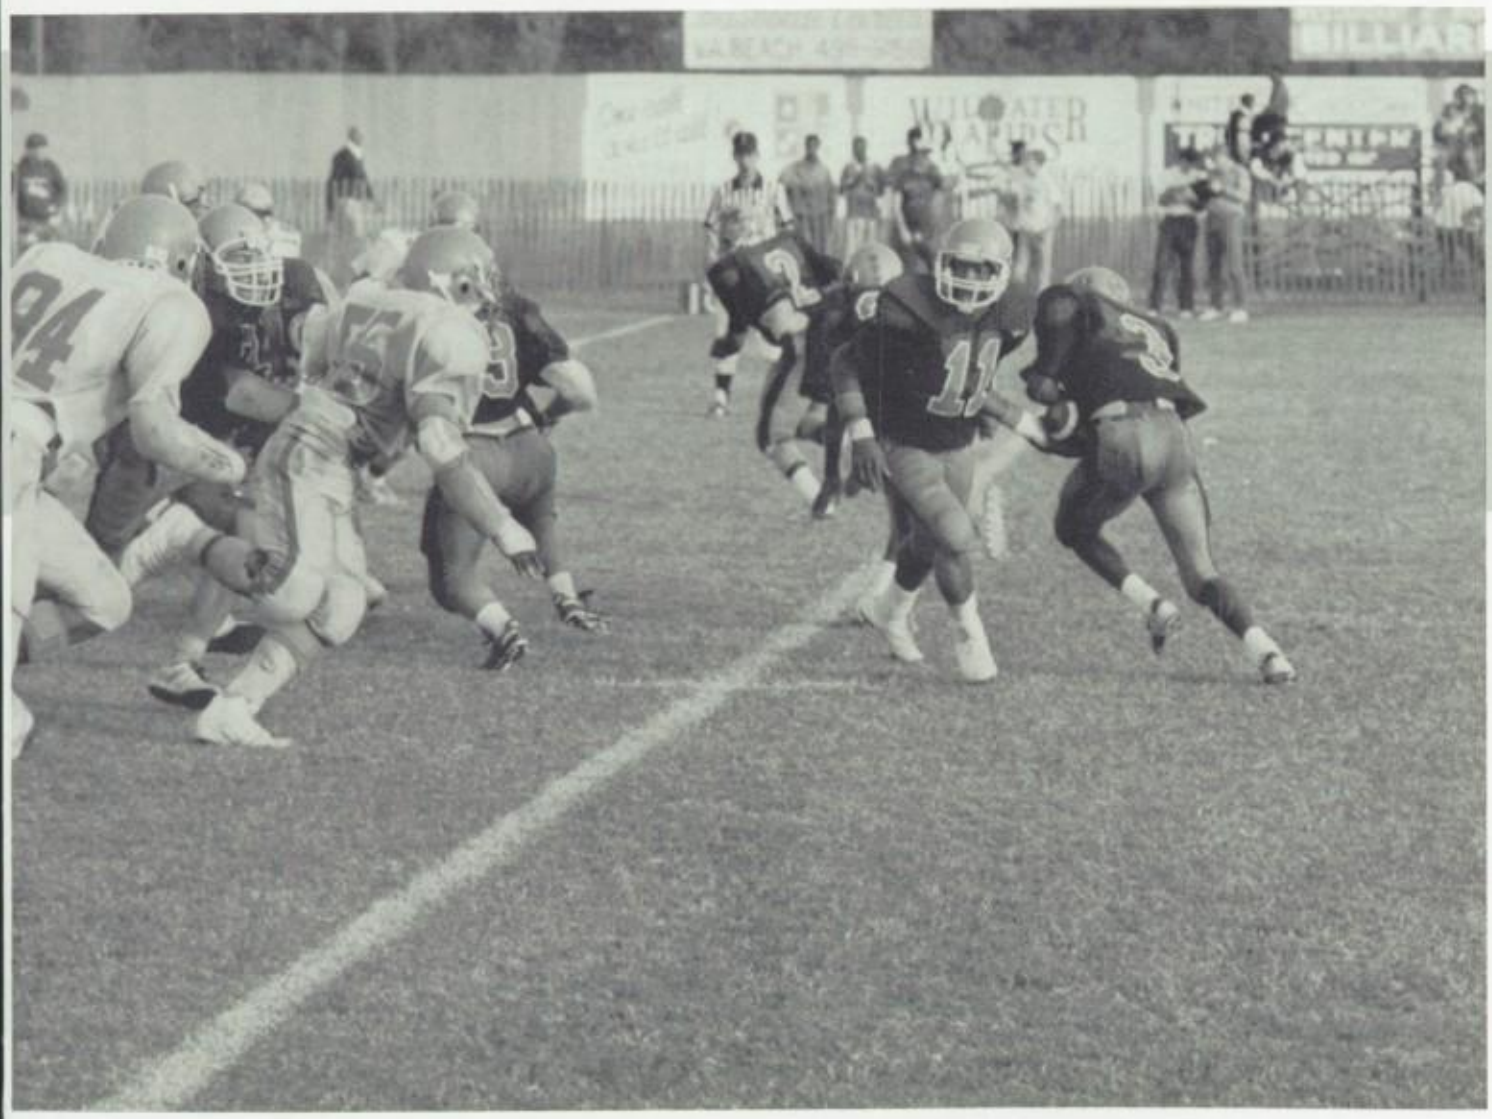


About the Year:

David Delk: "Though we were plagued by injuries and inexperience, the dignity and spirit if Maury football remained intact."

Sam McKay: "The '86 year was a growing year for our inexperienced team and I'm looking forward to the following year."

Ponyboy McGlone: "The team stuck together through thick and thin. We played on a superior level and I am proud of our team's performance."



Bobby Freeman hands off to Kenny Chapman.

Value in the Effort

Varsity Football

For as long as anyone can remember the school year begins in September and ends in August. However, for the 1986 Maury Commodore football team the school year begins in the heat of August.

The team began practicing hard in the summer and continued to put forth their best effort throughout the season. Unfortunately the hard work that the Commodores put out did not always show up on the scoreboard.

The '86 football squad, led by Coach Stickney, finished the regular season with a 3-7 record. "We were young, inexperienced and small improvements in all areas are predicted for the next season," commented Coach Stickney.

Although the team as a whole did not meet up to its full potential, a few members were recognized for their outstanding play. Senior Alex Serrano received the Rufus Tonnelson Award and senior David Delk received the award for outstanding blocking. This year's coach's award was won by junior Terrance Graves who led the team in total yards rushing.

J.V. Football

The Maury J.V. Football team, led by Harold Sigler, finished the season with a record of 1-5. Many of the team's members from the past year went on to play varsity this year; therefore, Coach Sigler and his staff had a whole new team to build.

"This season was basically a character building year," coach Coach Stickney. "We are looking forward to a very explosive '87 season.

Not all of the team members were inexperienced. Tom Warburton, a sophomore, along with freshmen Shawn Knight, Kenny Blake and Ed Zebro gave the team depthness in unstable times.

The team's Most Valuable Player Award went to quarterback Shawn Knight and the Most Improved Player Award was received by Matt Serrano.

Many of these players will be returning for their sophomore year in '87, so watch out Eastern District, the J.V. Commodores will rule.

Cheerleading

Good to Go

Every year in May tryouts for the Maury Cheerleading Squad begins.

The tryouts last a week to a week and a half. The twelve or thirteen students receiving the highest scores become the cheerleaders for the following school year.

The 1986-1987 cheerleaders began practice in mid-August. When school finally started, the cheerleaders practiced daily for approximately four hours daily.

Being a cheerleader requires much dedication, because they have several duties to uphold. Motivating students, learning routines, memorizing chants and hanging up signs to promote school spirit are but a few of the chores a Maury cheerleader must do.

The cheerleaders also have an never ending job. For example, they cheer for the football team in the fall, wrestling and basketball in the winter and the cheerleaders are even present at Spring sports.

FIELD HOCKEY

The field hockey team had an extremely successful year with a district record of 7-1 and an overall record of 8-4. The head coach, Mrs.Pat Panzik had two assistant coaches who were Debbie Rocke and Patty Cleary. Rocke and Cleary added their personal experience to the girls' knowledge.

The team continued its domination over area schools with their eighth consecutive district win. The field hockey team also made a strong showing in the Tabb Tournament by coming in fourth out of eight teams.

Mrs. Panzik, when questioned about the team, said that it was "the best one we have ever had at Maury." Panzik also commented that the team worked beautifully together.

However, the field hockey team is going to have a lot of work ahead of them for the upcoming season.

Team captains Karen Corcoran, Jane Beckett and Meg Gallatin,along with other starting players such as Sandy McQuerry, Marriane Monheim, and Maureen Dagleywill be graduating. In all, eight seniors will be graduating. Consequentially, the team is going to be inexperienced next year, but with the help of the upcoming seniors Coach Panzik is sure the team will hold their own

Girls' Tennis Dominates

Maury's Lady Commodore Tennis Team was very successful this year. Star player, senior Temby Caprio was Eastern District Champion of both singles and doubles matches. Lisa Price was also Eastern District Champion in doubles. Temby Caprio also received the Lady Commodore award at the banquet along with Caitlin Broach who won the Most Improved Player award.

Our Lady Commodores are always in the spotlight for one outstanding performance or another. With a 9-1 record, Coach Laughner must really have given these girls strenuous workouts. Keep up the good work ladies!!

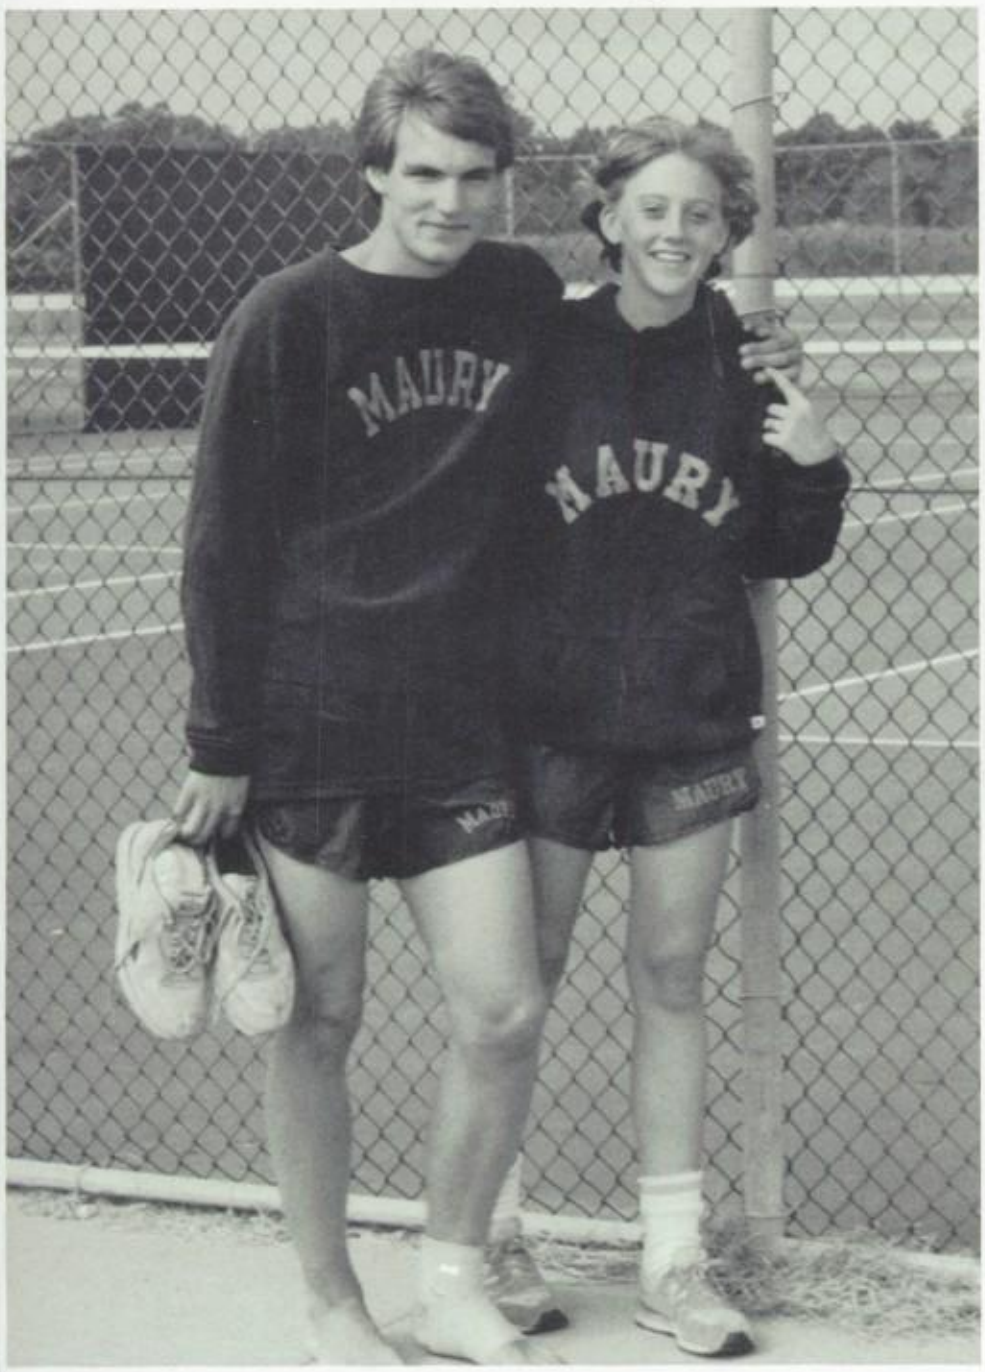
Maury Cross Country



The 1986 Maury Cross Country season will always be remembered. The season will be remembered not because of a great successful year, but because many believe that this season was the beginning of a cross country era at Maury.

The '86 Boys' team finished their season with a 0-5 record while the girls finished with a 2-3 season.

Both teams were led by Coach Shearin. "Both teams were rebuilt products of last year. I'm looking forward to a good 1987," said Coach Shearin.

Key players like Jennifer Drake, Aprille Harris and Cate Bohannon did a great job of being leaders for the girls' squad. Jennifer Drake went on to win first place in the Eastern District Meet in the Fall.

Rolfini Whidbee and Robert Johnson fought hard throughout the season to keep up the team's spirits in disappointing times.

The Maury Cross Country team may not have had a successful season, but the growth and experience is what made the season a great one.

Girls Basketball

This year the Girls' Varsity Basketball Team had another fun filled year despite their disappointing record. Under the guidance of head coach Debra Rocke and assistant coach Joanie Murphy, the Lady Commodores went into every game willing to give 100 % effort.

Star players of the team were Temby Caprio who scored 199 points this season, Tonya Green, winner of the Lady Commodore Award, Cate Bohannon who scored 125 points, and Marsha Wooten and Margarete Brandon.

Although the girls had an overall losing season, Coach Rocke believes that once they build up some more, they will be able to contend with the tough competition in the district and have a better season next year.

Boys Win District

This year the varsity basketball team had a great season. Coach Jack Baker and assistant coach Lonnie Blow helped the team to defeat all the opposing teams that approached them.

Coach Baker said, "We had an excellent season. The players worked hard all year and that hard work and dedication payed off with a district title."

The five top players were: Kenny Brown, Cornel Parker, William Sanderlin, Bobby Morris and Curtis Futrell. Brown led the way with scoring while Parker was the leader in rebounds. Sanderlin and Morris gave great inside scoring and Futrell walked away with the most improved honors.

This year, the Maury Commodores won the regular season Eastern District championship. The players did do a remarkable job this season.

At "press time" the Commodores were in the Eastern Region Tournament. Regardless of the outcome in the tournament, all of Maury can be very proud of these young men.

District champs again

The 1987 Maury Girls' Swimming Team continued with their years of claiming district titles. Under the guidance of Coach Ann Laughner and captains Karen Corcoran and Sam Roady, the Lady Commodores swept districts with Jennifer Pope, Adelaide Avery, Jane Rossheim, Karen Corcoran, Samantha Roady and Asher Milteer each winning a gold medal.

During the regular season meets, the girls dominated by averaging sixty points per meet to other schools' fifteen points.

Acccording to Mrs. Laughner, her girls were a hard - working and talented group who acheived more among themselves than with other teams.

The boys' team did equally well. The boys also clinced the Eastern District title.

WRESTLING

This year the wrestling team, though they did not have an outstanding season, did make a measureable improvement since the 1985 - 1986 season. Coached by Paul Hoffman and David Jacobs, the team won five out of their fourteen matches this season and the team secured a third place in the Eastern District Tournament.

Wrestling standout Alex Serrano contributed a lot to the team's success with an overall record of 13 - 4 - 2. This record allowed Serrano to claim a second place in the district. Other district winners were Thomas Warburton, Troy Best and Brandon Jackson. Coach Hoffman hopes to have a better season next year with the addition of new talent.

Coming Out

Clubs

This year has been an exciting year for new clubs along with the traditional clubs of Maury high.

MASB, again, did a wonderful job on making Homecoming '86 a great success and in encouraging students to participate in or attend school functions.

The newer clubs, such as the Happy Club and F.A.D.D. (Friends Against Drinking and Drugs) have made a lasting impression on the Maury student body.

More and more students are coming out and participating in clubs thereby increasing the membership of clubs at Maury and keeping the Maury spirit alive.

National Honor

The National Honor Society is a club that rewards the academic excellence of students. This club's membership escalated from last year. Last year the club consisted of thirty-two members, but this year it contains forty-six members.

Out of these forty-six students, twenty-eight are old members. To become an active member in this club, students must have a grade point average of 3.3. A student must also demonstrate characteristics of leadership and scholarship.

Mr. Lane-Laumann is the faculty sponsor of this club. The students who run this club are: President, Temby Caprio; Vice President, Debbie Becher; Secretary, Amy Levitin; and Treasurer, Lisa McDaniel.

This year the National Honor Society took part in the international Red Cross blood drive. The National Honor Society did a great job this year. This club is truly part of what makes Maury great.

MASB

The Maury Associated Student Body (MASB) represents the students of Maury High School in discussions with the administration. The MASB also promotes school spirit and coordinates student body fund raising.

There were seventy-five members in the MASB this year. The only requirement for membership into the MASB is to have an interest in selfless service to the school and its community.

The MASB has organized pep rallies and all Homecoming activities such as the bonfire, Homecoming dance, and selling mums.

The MASB has also sold booster ribbons and buttons for the football and basketball games.

Garnett

Where it's At

The Garnett Club at Maury hopes to soon be the Garnett Tri-Hi-Y club. This club's purpose is to serve our school and our community. Garnett is made up of approximately ninety girls. Twenty-seven of these girls are new members.

In order to qualify for this club, a young lady must be in the tenth grade or above and must go through a week long initiation at the beginning of the year.

The faculty sponsor for this club is Mrs. C. Newton. The officers responsible for running this organization are: Carrie Edmondson, president; Meg Gallatin, vice-president; Liz Etheridge, secretary; and Debbie Becher, treasurer.

The profits from the acitivites this year have contributed to the Joy Fund and to the sponsoring of a child in India.

Maury's NJROTC

Maury's Naval Junior Reserve Officer Training Corp was overseen by Commander E. Cox and Chief W.D. Henry. While these two men oversee the NJROTC, the cadets had their own senior officers. The officers include: Commanding Officer, Cadet Lieutenant Commander Robert Johnson; Executive Officer, Cadet Lieutenant William Woodhouse; Operational Officer, Cadet Lieutenant Junior Grade Larnetta White.

The NJROTC helps young men and women to become leaders. The Training Corp also gives these students a challenge which makes them better citizens and improves their self-esteem.

In the '86-87 school year, the NJROTC had 136 members and were very active. The NJROTC took trips to Mariners Museum, McArthur's Memorial and many other places where the students could learn about the world they will someday protect.

Maury's NJROTC has participated in five parades, six drill meets as well as three academic competitions. The cadets support Maury in all activities needed. For example, cadets help at the open house, they collect foods for needy families, and they present the flags at football and basketball games.

Maury's Pep Club

The Pep Club had fruitful results in fulfilling their purpose of promoting spirit within the school and at the games.

Under the leadership of sponsor James Stith, the Pep Club organized transportation to the games, participated in do-nut sales and made several trips.

The Pep Club once again instilled pride in all the hearts of Maury's students.

Black Studies Club

This year the Black Studies Club has had a very busy year by fulfilling their goal of increasing student involvement in and awareness of community events and supporting charity organizations. The sponsors were R. Farrar-Lake and S. Gardner. The club officers were Nina Norman-President, Tonia Barnes-Vice President, Claudia White-Secretary and Sharon Joyner-Treasurer. The Black Studies Club has really had an interesting year.

Maury 2 Members. Standing: S. Gardner. Seated: Tara Brooks, Lisa Wilson, Unknown.

Club Art

Maury's Club Art was one of the newly formed clubs this year. The purpose of this club was to allow AP Art students the time out of school to express their ideas.

Club Art participated in the Ghent Street Fair and the Stockley Gardens Art Festival. The club also hosted the annual Spring art gallery for students at Maury and presented a short video film at this event.

Officers: Christina Kendrot, Vice-President; Jane Rossheim, Co-President; Andrea Nicholson, Co-President.

The Debate Team

Competition is not always reserved for the athletic courts and fields. Playing offense and defense are not only skills needed to play football and basketball, they are skills needed to debate as well.

Maury's Debate Team, sponsored by English teacher Mr. Davis, competes throughout the Hampton Roads area against other public high schools enroute to a district championship.

The three acting members, Kedron Parker, Amy Hodgen, and Thomas Johnson Jr., practice weekly in an effort to improve their debating and speaking skills.

The Debate Team members must learn strategies in order to debate. They must know the difference between a "plank" and "counter-plank" as well as be prepared to challenge an argument at the drop of a hat.

Maury's Debate Team brings academic competence as well as a spirited zeal for competition to all of their matches.

Forensics

Even though Forensics is not a club, it is part of Maury's organizations. It is one of Virginia's High School League competitions that is opened to all students.

Students who are interested in public speaking, poetry and prose reading, dramatic interpretations, and extemporaneous speaking should compete. There are district, regional and state levels of this competition. Sometimes there are organizations who have speech contests where students can win scholarships up to sixteen thousand dollars.

Only ninth to twelfth graders can compete. We hope many students will contribute and participate in this organization in further years to come.

DECA

Distributive Education Clubs of America are to develop future leaders in marketing and distribution and other related fields.

There were one hundred twenty members. Being in Fundamental Marketing, Marketing, or Fashion Design are the requirements in joining the club.

The sponsor of the club was Mrs. Patricia Mayo. The officers were President John-Jay Greenspan, Vice President Robin McCutcheon, Secretary Lisa Lang, Treasurer Sharon Joyner and Historian Monica Morris.

Several students volunteered as workers at the Ghent Street Fair. DECA had a Fall Rally at Lake Taylor. They have sold E.T. calculators and candy as a fund raising project.

Photo Club

The Photography Club, under the leadership of their sponsor, Mrs. Saunders, had another active year. With the only requirement for joining is to have an interest in photography, the club maintained a strong membership of twenty.

The club succeeded in their goals by having ten students attend the 10th Annual White House News Photographers Seminar for high school students in Washington D.C. The club also had all day picture-taking outings in Virginia's historical areas. The club even had a volleyball picnic in May.

F.H.A.

Mrs. Wass and her team of Future Homemakers of America set out to accomplish their purpose of helping individuals improve personal, family and community living along with leadership and employability.

The only requirement to become a member is to have taken at least one semester or homemaking classes. The FHA had monthly events such as various service projects, a leadership workshop, a Home Economics Fair, and a Vocational Education Week.

This year, FHA acted as a positive force in promoting the family unit in the Tidewater area.

AIASA

In this increasingly technological society, associations are developing to help people understand and benefit from higher technology. One such club here at Maury is AIASA-the American Industrial Arts Student Association.

The purpose of this club is to learn to live in a technical society while at the same time participating in service projects for the benefit of others.

AIASA maintained a twenty person membership this year, including two new members from Maury 2.

The club's sponsor, Mr. Cliff Harrison, led the club to participate in a Technology fair at Military Circle and a Virginia State Fair in Richmond.

Chorus

The Maury High School Concert Chorus, led by Debra Newton, sung their way into Maury's heart. The objective of the concert chorus is to study and perform choral music and participate actively in city, regional, and state level competitions and workshops.

Along with the concert chorus, Maury has a advanced choral, also led by Debra Newton. In order to qualify for the choral, students must be experienced vocally with a high degree of musicianship and maturity.

Besides regional and state level competitions and activities, this group also performs for school functions and community and service organizations.

The Drama Club

Maury's Drama Club was one of the most active and interesting clubs at Maury High School this year.

This club's purpose was to entertain. The Drama Club's motto was: "To perform against the norm."

The Drama Club had fifteen members this year which was increase of five members from last year.

In order to become a member, a student had to be willing to work and be willing to make a fool of himself as well as express an interest in the theater.

The club's activities included performing "The Reading Skit" for downtown Norfolk, participating in a one act play festival and studying theater game and exercises.

Chrome

One new club added to Maury this year was the Chrome Club. The letters in "Chrome" stand for Cooperating Hampton Roads Organizations for Minorities in Engineering. Chrome's purpose is to promote and encourage minority enrollment in science and and engineering programs.

This new club consisted of twenty-five members. These members must adhere to a code of behavior, must maintain a high academic standing, be enrolled in prep classes and be in terested in looking at careers in the sciences.

Officers: Monica Morris, Marcellus Snipes, Janai Griffin.

Maury 2 Members: Mrs. Anten, Eleanor Morton, Christina Clark, Heather Houmis, Rebecca Brooks.

Project Lead

Maury has added a new club to their agenda this year. The name of this new club is Project Lead.

This club promotes leadership, education and development. This year only nine members were involved.

This year Project Lead dealt with teenage pregnancy at various schools and worked with the Special Olympics in the training program for participants.

Project Lead has done a great job this year. It will become one of the great clubs here at Maury.

The Maury Log

The Newspaper Staff

The newspaper club, better known as the Maury Log has been a great success this year. The purpose of this club is to produce and publish a student newspaper at least eight times a year. There are twelve people who are on this staff and participate in its production of the student paper. This is a slight decrease from last year. Each student must have completed Composition 300 and have good grades in English. Mr. Blackwell, an English teacher at Maury, is the faculty sponsor of this club. The student officers in charge of the newspaper are Katherine Wilson as Editor, Elizabeth Johnson as Assistant Editor, and Charles Russell as Production Editor. The newspaper club's project this year was the Ghent Street Fair. During this year, this club sold Christmas wrapping paper as a project. This club has done a great job with the Maury Log newspaper and we hope they continue their good work.

'87 Commodore Staff

Maury's yearbook or The Commodore is one of the most important clubs of Maury because without this club the students would not have a yearbook.

The purpose of this club is to produce the best possible yearbook that can be made for the students of Maury High School. The yearbook staff had nineteen members, increasing by two since last year. The faculty sponsor was Mr. Blackwell, the Editor was Crystal McAnelly and the Copy Editor was Julie Martin.

This club is an elective, and all year long the club members ran about Maury 1 and Maury 2 taking pictures and making notes of each and everything the students do at both schools to put as much as possible in the yearbook. The yearbook staff is always very busy with the activities in and out of school.

The yearbook staff worked hard this year to insure the best quality yearbook ever. Staff members stayed late after school and even came in on Saturdays and holidays to meet this objective.

Linh Hong, Nicole White and Michelle Wilson were valuable assets to the production of the '87 yearbook.

Helping Out

Teachers

Helping out students was the objective Maury 1 and Maury 2 teachers accomplished this year.

Not only do the teachers help students, but teachers also help other teachers as well.

Whether it is explaining new methods of teaching or new rules to first year teachers, or teaching Maury's outstanding curriculum to our students, Maury's teachers are true professionals.

Because the freshman were housed in Maury 2 this year, the relationships between teachers and students has become more personal.

Out of Sight

Academics

All Commodores are "Out of Sight;" however, there are certain students who are academically inclined. These students have furthered their academic skills by taking A.P. Languages, A.P. Histories, A.P. Sciences, and A.P. Math classes.

For seventy-five years, students have been coming to Maury to achieve their academic goals and they have succeeded. Most students who have taken A.P. classes have been able to gain college credits if they pass an exam. In addition to A.P. classes, Maury also offers courses at Eastern Virginia Medical School and the Norfolk Vocational and Technical Center.

All in all, Maury's students are "out of sight."

Some students reach for excellence at the top of the education scale.

Teacher of the Year

This year the yearbook staff decided to write an article on a special teacher. Since Mr. John Viccellio won Teacher of the Year, the yearbook staff decided to write a feature on him. We asked him for some comments, but instead he wrote us a letter which we would like to share with the students and faculty at Maury High School.

Teacher of the Year — I really didn't deserve the award. I certainly didn't accept the award with any conviction of my outstanding teaching ability, rather I accepted it with the belief that a teacher (even one over 40) can change and grow. I can only try to live up to the award.

When I heard that I had received the most votes for the "Teacher of the Year" award, I was "dazed and amazed." I only won by a single vote. My name was not even the ballot, but many of my friends at Maury 2 wrote my name in. I would like to thank everyone at Maury 2 for their unified support.

This is my eighth year at Maury. I have taught Physical Science, Yearbook and Earth Science. I have also served as an assistant Junior Varsity football coach for two years. Right now, I am teaching Basic Earth Science at both Maury 1 and Maury 2.

I can't exactly say why I became a teacher. I've always wanted to be a teacher. Even when asked, "What do you want to be when you grow up?" as a small child, I would always reply, "a teacher." My aunt taught elementary school for over 40 years, perhaps she was my inspiration.

J.H. Viccellio

Top Guns

Maury's Tidewater Challenge went forth this year with the resolution to crush all opposition in their academic competition. Brilliance and lightening quick recall are a definite must for this team.

The primary activity Maury's Tidewater Challenge was involved in this year was the Norfolk Challenge Competition where the team competed with other area high schools.

Undoubtedly Maury's Tidewater Challenge team will continue their streak of winning and giving an impressive academic credibility to Maury High.

Starting Four. The Top Guns: Mrs. Ramsey, John Rose, Curry Smith, Elizabeth Swanson, Aaron Fraser, Mrs. Self.

Happy Birthday Maury !!

75 Years of Excellence

Maury's seventy-fifth birthday party was celebrated last year beginning with a wine and cheese party at the Chrysler Museum for teachers, alumni and city officials.

The highlight of the gathering was a documentary film of Maury's past, present and future. This film was produced by John Wilcox of Cox Cable. This gathering was not only an introduction of the film, but also a send off for the Maury Foundation. The Maury Foundation is a private institution designed to raise money to aid the school.

On May 18th, 1986, the Maury Foundation, Maury P.T.A. and the Maury Booster Association held Maury's seventy-fifth birthday party. All alumni. students and parents were invited to attend.

All classes from 1911 and 1989 were represented. Much entertainment was planned including selections from both the Chorus and Strings. There was also an art exhibit and yearbooks from 1922 were on display. There was much celebrating and a good time was had by all.

Mr. Slaughter and Dr. Peele show off the 1986 Valedictorian, Leigh Blevins.

Words from the Wise

Gina Calandria: "The ability to conquer one's short comings makes giants of us all."

Susan Dean: "Education has for its purpose the formation of character"

Temby Caprio: "Make sure your definition of success is correct before you try to achieve it."

David Drake: "The world is made up of many individuals, namely us. We are all responsible for our failures or our survival."

Lisa McDaniels: "Lisa's Golden Rule for success: Never do anything until the last minute."

Debbie Becher: "But such is the irresistible nature of truth, that all it asks, and all it wants, is the liberty of appearing."

Karen Corcoran: "Only through persistent laziness can one achieve total relaxation."

David Delk: "Competition does not impede success, it breeds it."

Tom Johnson: "They tell you not to sacrifice your future for enjoyment now; just remember not to give up the fun of adolescence for your future."

Elizabeth Swanson: "Knowledge is folly except grace guides it." — George Hubert.

Pre - Pre, Med

Recently many students in the Norfolk Public School system have desired a program that would give them an early start on their education in the medical field. Therefore, the Eastern Virginia Medical School program was designed for high school students in the Norfolk Public Schools.

EVMS teaches students on the high school level basic scientific knowledge in the medical fields such as biology and other sciences related to medicine.

The head of the EVMS program is Mrs. Petroske, who has the head of this program for a number of years.

When asked about the requirements for students to enter the program, Don Cottingham, head of the science department at Maury, said, "To enter the EVMS program, the student does not have to be an A student, the student simply has to show an interest in the program."

EVMS is a great program for the students at Maury who wish to pursue a career in medicine.

Biology students wait to attend classes at EVMS.

Katherine Wilson attends her chemistry class at EVMS.

Vo-Tech: Part of What Makes Maury Great

This year, along with past years, some Maury High School students have been attending the Norfolk Vocational Technical School also known as Vo-Tech.

Special programs such as cosmetology, commercial art, and horticulture are classes that cannot be taken at Maury, but are offered at the Norfolk Vocational and Technical School.

Mr. Davis, the principal at Vo-Tech, feels that his school is not only a school for learning special trade skills, but also a place where students from different schools can come together.

A student has quite a variety of classes to choose from and many of our Commodores are attending the Vocational center.

Students may study horticulture at Vo-Tech

"Say Cheese!!"

Education comes first for Carol.

These Vo-Tech students prepare to repair a used air conditioner.

It is a jungle out there.
